

Director Stephen Lurie and the Trustees of the Honolulu Academy of Arts cordially invite you to attend the private reception of

Hawaiian Idyll

The Prints of John Kelly

Much of John Kelly's imagery has come to personality for many today the beauty and grace of Old Hawaii, a romanticized notion of the quiet and gentler side of Hawaii's past. This is a major retrospective exhibition drawn from the Academy's preeminent collection of prints by John Kelly extensively developed over the past twelve years through donations made by the Kelly family. It also includes their loan of an important body of drawings and proofs, never before seen, that amplifies his working process.

Wednesday, September 7, 2005
7:30 – 9:30 p.m.

Entertainment by Po'okela

Hawaiian Idyll will be on view in the Henry R. Luce Gallery through October 23, 2005.

The Academy Shop will be open.

Complimentary parking is available at the Academy Art Center.

